that Judge Inxon's election may be set down delivered to Chisman at 7 a. in. on Friday.

The correspondence of the part of the two delivered to Chisman at 7 a. in. on Friday.

Till then, Potter had kept carefully out of the way of the Police. But he that day went openly to the House of Representatives, before had an interview with rypor.

Poter being thus placed under bonds of $5,000 to keep the peace, and that fact being known to everybody in Washington (for, the streets were full of this item of news.) Items. But it cannot well be helped.—
The R-publicans see, in the Wisconsin, though his friend Chisman, sends a fiery missive to Poter, telling him to fetch on his knives and begin; which note is so ill-timed and ridiculous that neither Chisman, Keltt, nor anybody else, will deliver it to Potter!

The Therat of "Disunton" a Hunnud.

The Therat of "Disunton" a Hunnud.

A Washington correspondent of the Charleston (S. C.) Coarier makes a melancholy confession of the absence of real tone choly confession of the absence of real tone and meaning in the Southern Disunion movement. This letter writer says:

Hight. This letter writer says:

The truth is, that Disundon, out of South Carolina, and a tew earnest spirite here and there in the Guif scates, is a thore same of the politicisms. It is a rock and earlier of the politicisms. It is a thore same of the politicisms. It is necessary to head with attach they hope to frighten the inectiable limited from a rising on their shires of the profits spails. This is the truth, and when a State acts on a confirmant theory, it is the falle of the mountain and the mountain as exhibited in the present form of the Foothern States Conference question.

How much is known title, investigated. You How much longer "the inevitable Yankees" are to be trightened by this scare-crow of Southern manufacture will probably be determined next November.

OUR "NATIONAL" PARTY .- The following eminently national appeal is from the Washington Constitution, the central organ of the "National Democratic" party:

or the "National memogratic" party;
"The opportunity is now afforded to the South, represented in the National Convention, to raise her woice for herself, and determine for herself whether she will approve and maintain the stand which her friends have held in her defense; or whether she will approvide by according a commonlise nave neto in ner detenne; or whether she will surrender by accepting a compromise between the position of her defenders and that of her Black Republican assailants.—We entertain no fears as to the course she will pursue. She is well aware that if she arrived of the breadth of sill pursue. She is well aware that it she now yields to the extent of the breadth of a hair of her constitutional possessions or privileges, she has virtually surrendered the whole; and not only that, but she will be reduced by her own act to that disgraceful eltustion is which Hickman threatened to place her by the aid of eighteen millions of little Republican havonets. Black Republican bayonets.

That is, the "diagraceful situation" of acquiescing in the constitutional election of a Republican President.

Politics and Rulidion.-A writer in the Boston Pilot, a zealous organ of Catholicism, nsists that every good Catholic, "so far as he is governed by the canons, principles and policy of his Church, must take the Demoeratic side," and adds:

eratic side," and adds:

"The position taken by Seward, Lincoln, Chase, Banks, and all the Republican leaders, is distinctly and decidedly anti-Catholic, and if any Catholic supports them, it is in opposition, I will not say to the requirements, but I will say to the principles, of his religious faith."

WOR'T ALLOW THEM TO LAND .- The Portamouth (Vs.) Transcript says: "We were informed yesterday, by a gentleman just from Charleston, that the Council of that city had been appealed to by the citizens to prohibit the landing of steamers at that port, chartered for the accommodation of delegates.

HORSE RAILROADS .- The veto of the Governor of New York, of the city railroad bills, takes the ground that the valuable franchises onferred by the bills, should be made profitable to the city, and a suitable amount should be paid into the City Treasury, to sid the tex-payers in return for such franhise; if not, at least, the fare should be so restricted as to ensure protection to the masses who use the roads. The Governor admits the necessity of railroad facilities for the city, but thinks the privileges granted are too sweeping in their character to warrant his signature to the bills. The Legislature passed the bills over the Governor's veto, by very large majorities; whereat the New York city papers are generally and justly indignant.

ANOTHER "ARRESTS MITH" STORY .- The European Times, of March 25th, copies the following ridiculous story of what it terms the "most strange and cruel wrongs done to an Englishman," one G. Acknown, in this country. His statement is as follows, and the American readers will smile at the geographical blunders made, as well as the reference to the "Custom House" of an inland

"In the month of August, 1851, as he was walking in the streets of Cabbottsville, in the State of Massachusets, (having then resided in America for five years,) he was seized by two men, named Wheeler and Churchill, and was by them conveyed to the custom house, placed in from. and conveyed by rail to Caledonia Total 476 Poor Pryor and his Creature Chisman. From the New York Tribuns.

If anything wore needed to complete the diegrace of Roger A. Pryor, and mingle pity with the contempt in which he is universally held, it is furnished in the two notes contained in the "card" of his "friend," Mr. Chisman, published by us yesterday, and which were not delivered to Mr. Potter.

These two notes are doubtless intended to furnish the ground upon which the chivalric These two notes are donotiess intended to furnish the ground upon which the chivalric Virginian is to again swagger and vaunt in the House of Representatives under the protection of its rules. But a few stubborn facts tection of its rules. But a few stubborn facts stand in his way.

Alexandria, the place where he retreated from the storm he had raised, is only six miles from Washington, with which it is connected by river, railroad and carriage road. But there is every reason to believe that Pryor was much nearer Washington while the correspondence with Potter was going on. And though Chisman, in his note to Lander declining to accept of his terms (bowieknives) for the fight, says, "I must, without showing your note to my principal (or even knives) for the fight, says, "I must, without showing your note to my principal (or even seeing him,) refuse," &c, nobody at Washington believes that its terms were not communicated by somebody to Pryor. Lander's note, conveying the proposition to fight with knives, was delivered to Chisman about halfpast 11 o'clock P. M. on Thursday, and Chisman's reply was not received till 4 A.M. the next morning. In the intervening four and a half hours, there was ample time to bear its contents to Alexandria, where Pryor claims to have been, and, certainly, abundant time to carry them to Georgetowa, only two miles from Washington, where it is believed, on good evidence, that Pryor them fighting was yulgar, barbarous inhuman, and mot usual among gentlemen, or consistent with the notions of civilized society?—this iole, inviting a street encounter with knives, swords, dirks, pistols, revolvers, muskets, olubs, or anything with which men could murder each other in a street brawl-this muraer each other in a street brawt—this note this dainty and gentlemanly Chisman tries to deliver to Potter, and is only prevented because he is under bonds ! Whoever will scan Pryor's last two letters will see that they are the result of deliberation and care, and were never written in the haste and excitement of a bona fide effort to meet an antagonist in mortal combat. They are an attempt, but too thin and transparent for the exigency, to carry the contempt and the ridicule that the writer and his backers lelt conscious that everybody was at that moment thrusting at him.

But these notes are characteristic to the last. The one wherein Pryor talks of Potter's "vaunt" that he would defend himself, ter's "vaunt" that he would desend missel, shows the braggart. The other displays the craven. His antagonist's hands being snugly tied, Pryor whimpers like a cowardly cur about "the greatly superior size and cur about "the greatly superior Size and strength" of the man whom he had insulted, and who had sought no controversy with him—falsely whining about Potter's superi-ority, too, in all that is essential in a hand-to-hand contest with bowie knives, because to-hand contest with bowie knives, decause Pryor is much taller and longer-armed than Potter, and ought to be strong enough to strike, if foolish enough to challenge.

But, both Pryor and Chisman, by this last phase of the correspondence, have sunk so low that even the contempt of decent men will trud to elevate them—and so we leave will tend to elevate them-and so we leav any candidate who openly avowed himself as a "nigger hunting Democrat" of either the Buchanan or Douglas school; but in lieu Buchanan or Douglas school; but in lien thereof, we are able to present to the freemen of Wisconsin two candidates who regard the Fugitive Slave Law as unconstitutional.—To this point the poor Democracy of Wisconsin have been brought; and while the U.S. officers, acting under the orders of a Democratic Administration, are guard over a fellow ditizen for an alleged violation of that law the Democracy of Wisconsin are compelled to vote for a man as Chief Justice who pronounced that law unconstitutional. Where then is your boasting?

New Method of Growing Pie Plant—
We were recently shown some pie plant which was grown by Mrs. Craig, in her cellar, in the town of Jackson, Adams county.
She informs us that the plant was put in the dry sand, last fall, in the bottom of her cellar and with no further attention whatever. Getting Heady.—One hundred and eleven harrels of whiskey—Buchanan's favorite brand—have just been shipped from Philadelphia to Charleston.

Iar' and with no further attention whatever. it grew finely and kept her well supplied with the plant during the winter. This method of growing the pie plant may be known to some, but we are quite sure it cannot be very generally known. It certainly was a won't the fish be crowding here to keep out of the wet, ye spalpeen?"

Mr. Englemann, one of the firm, very contecously gave me the above information, and also states that the first cargo of lumber shipped from this side was from Manistee, on the zehooner Stronach, February 23, and on the 20th of March there had been one million feet of lumber shipped.

Mesers. Cantield, Smith, and Stronach Brothers, are all doing a heavy business.

There are many improvements noticeable.

Within three years we can, if present appearances are not deceptive, look for a production of a number of million dollars in silver per annum from the California mines. This will change the course of exchange.—
Now the silver from the West goes to England via the Isthmus of Panama, and that from Mexico from Vera Cruz, and from Enrope it flows in a steady stream to India and China. When California turns it out in quantity, our merchants will order it shipped from San Francisco to India and China. This will create just so much exchange on ped from San Francisco to India and China. This will create just so much exchange on the East, to be used in San Francisco as remittances, taking the place of gold, which will remain to enrich the State. The merohants on the Atlantic will no longer pay tribute to the London bankers, but on the contrary the merchants of Europe can make a great saving by ordering silver shipped from California, thereby saving the freight of treasure half round the world, and instead of selling in the East bilis on London at a discount, they can sell them at a premium in San Francisco, so as to cover all expenses of placing silver in China.

This state of things will make quick communication necessary between here and California, and hence we must have at once better passenger facilities via the Isthmus.—

A steamer once a month from this port would go full of New England passengers, at a higher rate than is charged from New York, because they know that they will be fairly treated, and not swindled by bogus tickets as they are in New York to such an extent that the State of California has just created the office of State Agent, to reside in New York, for the protection of passengers against this swin-

Slidell Proposes to Buy Up the Charleston

Correspondence of the New York Times. Correspondence of the Asix York Times.

Look out for Houmas. Slidell leaves tomorrow morning for Charleston, to open an

When figures are over this sum, payment will be Jactored and made in offices at each will be deferred, and made in offices at cash value. SHORTEST PASSIGE ON RECORD

The Flying Cloud Beaten-Arrival of the Chipper-Ship Andrew Jackson. From the Alta Californian of March 24. From the Alta Californian of Murch 24,
The Clipper ship Andrew Jackson, Capt.
Williams, from New York, arrived yesterday afternoon, in the unprecedented time of eighty-nine days and seven hours, beating the quickest voyage of the clipper-ship Flying Cloud, Capt. Cressy, six hours. The Flying Cloud made two voyages to this port which were never equaled until this one of the Andrew Jackson. Her first short passage was eighty-nine days and twenty-three The village of Manistee is situated on that portion of the Manistee River lying between Manistee Lake Michigan. It is built on both sides of the river. The distance between the two lakes is about one mile; the main or business portion of the willage is on the South side of the River.—
The business at this point, like that of all the other ports on the east shore of Lake Michigan, arises principally from the manufacture of lumber, timber and shingles.

The Manistee is not as wide as Grand River, but the depth of water, on an average is greater, and is navigable, I am told, for stamers and vessels at least forty milesfrom the month. Unlike Grand River, there are no flourishing villages on its banks. Nothing, as yet, save the logging camps of the nother ports and the occasional clearing of the settler, break the monotonous solitude of what is yet almost a wilderness.

It is this growing feeling, no doubt, that influenced the late speech of Lord John Russell, when he almost declared that England was ready to go to a rupture with France in order to join a European coalition. On this question of a coalition, however, it is well to remark the important position of Russell to remark the important position of Russell to remark the important position.

JONES was traveling with his wife, and (for a freak.) was so gailant in his behavior to his cara sposa, that madam grew uneasy and remonstrated against his attentions as too marked for public observation.

"Yee," said the lady, "but, judging from your deportment, folks will think we aint" "Well—what of it?" said Jones.
"Why, not much certainly, for you," said the careful dame—"you're a man; but we women have our characters to take care of." Jones was shocked into propriety for the rest of the journey.

Correspondence of the N. Y. Times. CAMP FLOYD, U. T., March 21.
Nothing can afford a stronger condemnation of Mormonism than their treatment of their women, their complaints, and fears for their personal safety in the event of the army being withdrawn. In all the polygamic countries women are treated as though they were animals not to be trusted, and are watched with jealous care. Utah is rather an aggravation than an exception to this general rule. No Mormon will trust one of his women alone Mormon will trust one of his women alone with a brother Mormon, be he ever so devout. They parry it to such an extent that no woman is permitted to go to or from a social party, or anywhere else, attended by any other than her husband, or rather keeper, or father. The rule is a strict Church regulation, and rigidly enforced. Caliph Omar never kept a stricter watch over his youngest wife, than Brigham and his lech-rous satellites do over their concubines. In the Mormon dictionary female virtue is set down as a Utomen, and the women who believe in Mormonism (1) accept for their sex this degrading hypothesis; and it cannot astonish you, therefore, that among real Mormons, modesty is at a discount.

But, to their credit be it spoken, there are but few real Mormon women, though many,

A few women have escaped from them and a few women have escaped from them and the dealer of the army for protection. Some of these have told me that if it was withdrawn,

Some time ago Heber Kimball was lecturing some missionaries who were preparing to start out on foreign missions, in the Tabernaole, and said to them: "Brethren, I want you to understand that it is not to be as it has been heretofore. The brother Missionaries have been in the habit of picking out the practical wanns for themselves hadors out the prettiest women for themselves before they get here, and bringing on the ugly ones to us, hereafter you have to bring them all here before taking any of them, and let us all have a fair shake." The old reprobate then had at least a score of women whom he called had at least a score of women whom he cailed wives.

History shows that polygamy never existed in any community for fifty years without women becoming an article of merchandize. The traffic has already commenced in Utah. I will mention one of the several instances brought to my notice. At Ogden City, about ninety miles north of this place, in July, 1858, a young English woman was sold to a man for a wagon load of pumpkins, the pumpkins to be paid at pumpkin time. When pay day came the fellow brought the woman back and said he didn't want her. Of course the parties rued bargains and quit.—This story may seem very ridiculous, but it was told to me, and its truth vouched for by a lady who crossed the ocean with the woman sold, and she has been intimately acquainted with her ever since her arrival in the trustery. acquainted with her ever since her arrival in the territory. I have no reason to doubt its truth, and I give it to the world as illustrative of the estimation in which women are held by the Mormons.

Russell & Co. have already commenced stocking the route with ponies preparatory to starting their lightning express from Leavenworth to San Francisco. They brought us our letter mail last week in fourteen days from Leavenworth and they were only experimenting to see how it would go. Success to them. acquainted with her ever since her arrival in Brigham has again commenced preaching about "sending the army to hell across lots," and this time with the additional assurance that the Gentile lawyers shall go along to pilot them over the troubled waters of the Styx. This is a phrase of peculiar elegance, for which the prophet, seer, and revelator appears to have a patent and he does not grant the privilege of it to every one. For the first year after the troops started out from Leavenworth, every Sabbath day the pillars of the holy Tabernacle trembled beneath the thunders of this terrible declaration, while the begrimed countenances of the admiring "Saints" were distorted with varying emotions as they wandered, were horified, and finally when the dreadful import of this awful determination fully seized upon them, pitied us, as they fancied they saw the earth wide open gape, and the incongruous mass, horses, riders, men, artillery and armanuents, like Curtius, pitch in. But even Brigham relented, and graciously granted us little longer probation on the upper side of terrafirms, and until Sunday before last we heard nothing more of the "cross lots" route, but the patience of his holiness is completely exhausted, and his cry now is "No longer, Lord." So if you do not receive any more letters from your old correspondent, you may rest assured that some sage brush have been letters from your old correspondent, you may rest assured that some sage brush have been destroyed when the gap was made. Inving used to tell a story illustrative of the Yankee talent at "making things pay." A man who sent turkeys to market also swept chimneys for a living, tying a cord around the neck of the bird so as not to choke it too suddenly, and then drawing it up and down the chimner so that the flutter of the expiring struggle might do the sweeping. The papers tell us also that there is a grocer in Pennsylvania, who is said to be so mean that he was seen to catch a fly off his counter, hold it up by his hind legs, and look into the crack of his feet to see if he had been stealing some of his sugar.

been stealing some of his sugar. Somebody says: "A wife should be like lamb—tender and nicely dressed." A scamp adds, "and without any sauce."

WASHINGTON, April 21—3 P. M.
The Constitution says: If any member of the United has sought or taken steps to change the line of action of the President, in any important matter of State policy, without the advice, knowledge or consent of the President, he had been guitty of an act of infidelity and tead raith, which should invoke his iny and tead raith, which should invoke his everest censure; indeed such conduct would be dishonorable and justly incur a forfeiture of his confidence. In this view we think we ie dishonoraile and justly ineur a forfeiture of his confidence. In this view we think we have the right to demand of Mr. Walker the maning of the individual implied. In the absence of a reply, we shall maintain that he is wholly mistaken, and is wholly unable to substantiate the grounds of his belief.

This article excites more comment from its semi-oficial character, and as it involves the question of a unity of the Cabinet.
